Read the story carefully. Answer with True or False for each statement.

Omar loves sports and staying active. Every week, he goes to the gym to do gymnastics. He practices jumping, rolling, and balancing on one foot. Sometimes he falls, but he always stands up and tries again. His coach tells him that practice makes him better.

On Fridays, Omar meets his friends in the park to do athletics. They run fast, throw balls, and do short races. Everyone laughs and has fun. Omar always tries his best to win, but he also cheers for his friends when they do well.

On the weekend, Omar goes to his karate class. He wears a white uniform and a green belt. He learns new moves like kicking, blocking, and bowing to his teacher. His karate teacher says that Omar is strong and brave. Omar feels happy and proud because he is getting better every week. He dreams of becoming a sports champion one day.
